Sandfestival to gift 3 headliners

Organizers of Sand Music Festival have announced that they'll bless Malawians with 3 international artists – one for each of the three days of the event. Recently, the organizers were criticized of not announcing artists before telling fans to buy tickets – a situation that led to controversy when the event's Twitter page replied, “ngati mulibe ndalama zisiyeni.” So far, Peter “Mr. P” Okoye, former member of P-Square, has been announced.

COVER STORY

Maskal artworking like its 2010?

Maskal, who was such a big celeb in Malawi about 10 years ago with hit singles like Udalire, was this week bullied into changing an artwork for a song he's about to release.

The song, titled Samadziwa, will see the star hit a comeback to the Malawian music scene.

It won't be without controversy though, as an artwork he released earlier met a lot of disses by his Facebook fans. The disses were so bad, that a random fan created an artwork for him – a better one.

Petro, Banda through in UEFA Champions League

Malawi National Football Team defender Charles Petro and attacker Peter Banda have progressed to the second round of the Uefa Champions League preliminary round after their Moldovan side Sheriff FC beat Albanian side Teuta Dures 1-0.

The return match was played at Bolshaya Spartivnaya Arena on Tuesday night.

Sheriff progressed on 5-0 aggregate, having won 4-0 away in Albania at Niko Davanna Stadium last week.

Manchester United striker Marcus Rashford may not play until the end of October after deciding to have surgery on a shoulder injury.

Twenty-time Grand Slam champion Roger Federer and British number one Johanna Konta have both pulled out of this summer's Tokyo Olympics.
